

Daryl Cumber Dance

Daryl Cumber Dance, who has been active in Wintergreen since its inception, is Professor Emerita, University of Richmond and Virginia Commonwealth University. She is the author of three literary studies, including Fifty Caribbean Writers, New World Adams, and In Search of Annie Drew, the Mother and Muse of Jamaica Kincaid. Her numerous folklore studies such as Honey, Hush!, Shuckin' and Jivin', From My People, Long Gone, and Folklore from Contemporary Jamaicans have resulted in her being dubbed "The Dean of American Folklore." She has recently turned her attention to fiction, completing Till Death Us Did Part, Land of the Free . . . Negroes, and Here Am I in 2020.